DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

The listing of references in the specification is not a proper information disclosure statement. 37 CFR 1.98(b) requires a list of all patents, publications, or other information submitted for consideration by the Office, and MPEP § 609 A(1) states, "the list may not be incorporated into the specification but must be submitted in a separate paper."

Although the references have not been cited by the examiner on form PTO-892, they have been considered.

Specification

The disclosure is objected to because of the following informalities: German language sections remain in the application.

Appropriate correction is required.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

1. Claims 1-16 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Pay US 5,710,043.

Art Unit: 3728

Re claim 1, Pay discloses a modular array arrangement in Figs. 1 and 2 comprising:

a carrier 12; and at least one insert 24 for attachment to said carrier, said at least one insert having a first connecting means (male threads) arranged on or formed in at least one of the external walls of said at least one insert, said carrier having at least one location for receiving one of said at least one insert and comprising a second connecting means (female threads), said second connecting means being arranged in, adjacent to, or formed by said at least one location, said first connecting means unambiguously matching with said second connecting means, said unambiguously matching permitting to align said at least one insert in a predetermined orientation in or on said carrier, and said insert having at least one section defined for receiving a sample, said at least one section being provided with or adapted for receiving operational means.

Re claim 2, said first connecting means is essentially or partially complementary to said second connecting means.

Re claim 3, said first connecting means or said second connecting means have an asymmetric structure or form. Although the individual thread shape is a "V" and is generally symmetrical in form, the plurality of threads disclosed are not symmetrical. Threads are disposed in a helical arrangement where there is a starting thread not of full height, and an ending thread not of full height. The plurality of threads of Pay are not symmetrical about any axis or plane.

Re claim 4, said first connecting means or said second connecting means is adapted to serve as a grip. External threads form a gripping surface.

Re claim 5, said insert is releasably or non-releasably connected to said carrier upon attachment to said carrier.

Re claim 6, wherein an insert is provided with one or more additional first connecting means or an insert receiving location is provided with one or more additional second connecting means.

Re claim 7, said operational means being selected from the group consisting of compounds attached to the insert surface, media, reagents, solvents, catalysts, coatings, and beads.

Re claims 8-14, note the rejection of claims 1-7. Additionally, the connecting means of Pay is a projection element (the male threads).

Re claims 15-16, the methods are inherently disclosed by Pay.

Conclusion

The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure.

Bora 2001/0005491 discloses an arrangement where it is unclear if the shape of the projecting elements could be construed as being symmetrical or not. This is particularly true as the claims are not clear as to what plane the asymmetry is being established. It is believed that the projecting elements would be symmetrical about some planes, but not about other planes.
